Dear All,

The first- and second-year doctoral students of UG Doctoral Schools at the Faculties in the academic year 2026/2027 are asked to complete obligatory online courses, which are part of the mandatory Diversity and cross-cultural interactions in scientific collaboration and research course. The first year is obligated to complete two courses provided in the system, the second – one online course and a 10-hour lecture held on site as announced in a separate course schedule: https://sd.ug.edu.pl/en/wnioski.

In order to register for a particular course, you need to log in to the Education Platform (Portal Edukacyjny) via Central Authentication Service (CAS): https://pe.ug.edu.pl/. Next, you may find the course via search engine or click on the following links. There is an access code for each course that needs to be entered in the system (given below).

Once the included tasks and entire courses are completed, the system will allow to generate a certificate, and each doctoral student will receive an automatic confirmation email. The certificates are to be printed and submitted along with other yearly documents to the Doctoral School's Administration Office. Those end-of-the-year documents usually include the appendix to the course sheet, where the completion of courses must also be noted. A template of the appendix should be provided by the doctoral student's school.

An English version of the online courses are being prepared, so if non-national students are unable to complete the courses in Polish, they may hold off until they are available (which should be some time closer to the summer semester).

Apart from the one online course, the second-year doctoral students must participate in the on-site classes according to a separate course schedule.

All matters regarding the content of the online courses should be directed to:
